

Keir Mudie

Journalist and Editor

London | keir@keirmudie.com | 07947 820365 | keirmudie.com

PROFILE

Senior national newspaper journalist and editor with two decades of experience across print and digital. Extensive background in politics, news and social affairs, with senior editorial roles at Reach plc including Deputy News Editor at the Sunday Mirror and Deputy Political Editor covering Westminster. A leader writer and columnist. Currently freelancing for the Daily Mirror while available for permanent, interim and senior freelance roles.

CAREER

Freelance Journalist, Daily Mirror

March 2026 – present

Features, news and opinion across politics, culture and social affairs.

Head of Publishing, National Education Union

September 2025 – December 2025

Editorial direction and publishing strategy across digital channels, commissioning and editing journalism on education policy and industrial relations.

Deputy News Editor, Reach plc

October 2021 – July 2024

Senior editorial oversight of national news output across print and digital. Commissioning and editing breaking news, exclusives and investigations. Part of the leadership team driving the newsroom's transition to digital-first working.

Deputy Political Editor, Reach plc

July 2017 – September 2021

Westminster-based political editor through Brexit and three successive governments. Regular contact with MPs, ministers, advisers and party press operations. Commissioned and edited political coverage across print and digital platforms.

Social Affairs Correspondent, Reach plc

October 2014 – November 2015

Specialist reporting on welfare, housing and social policy for the Sunday Mirror and Sunday People.

News Reporter, Reach plc

January 2011 – October 2014

General news reporting for the Sunday People.

News Reporter, Northern & Shell (Daily Star)

January 2010 – January 2011

Breaking news and human interest.

EDUCATION

BA (Hons) English and History, Leeds Beckett University